Offering safe, reliable gluten-free food ensures your business is keeping up with this rapidly growing consumer base. The Gluten Free Food Programs (GFFP) assures your customers that your standards and practices have met the highest industry requirements, as recognized by the three leading celiac organizations in North America: The Canadian Celiac Association (CCA), la Fondation québécoise de la maladie cœliaque (FQMC) and the National Celiac Association (NCA).

The Gluten-Free Food Program (GFFP), provides food service handlers and operators with the required knowledge and best practices to responsibly meet the special dietary needs of people needing to eat gluten-free food. GFFP benefits a wide range of business types committed to serving the gluten-free population, including restaurants, caterers, camps, hotels, convention centers, healthcare, and educational institutions.

In turn, through easily identifiable and recognizable brand marks, GFFP helps consumers find safer, more reliable gluten-free products and dining out options.

GF-Verified indicates an establishment produces both gluten-containing and gluten-free food options.

GF-Dedicated indicates to the gluten-free community that all food options are gluten-free.
