

Dr. J. A. Campbell Research Award Overview

Grants in Aid of Research in Celiac Disease, Dermatitis Herpetiformis and/or Gluten Sensitivity in Canada

Award

A grant of up to $25,000 is offered by the Canadian Celiac Association (CCA) for research projects in Canada of a scientific, applied science, and/or medical nature relevant to celiac disease, dermatitis herpetiformis, and/or non-celiac gluten sensitivity, or the socio-economic implications of delayed diagnosis and/or living with these conditions.

2021 – 2023 Over the next three years, CCA has an interest in investigations covering celiac disease and vulnerable and/or under-investigated populations (indigenous, newcomers, impoverished and racialized communities), however, applications are not limited to this subject area.

Purpose

This award is to encourage research and further the understanding of the full range of implications of celiac disease (gluten-induced enteropathy), dermatitis herpetiformis, and/or non-celiac gluten sensitivity.

Application

Applicants must download and complete our application form which can be downloaded at <https://www.celiac.ca/healthcare-professionals/research-awards/>

Completed applications must be received by the Canadian Celiac Association no later than February 15, 2021, and each will be acknowledged. These applications will be forwarded to the Professional Advisory Board of the Canadian Celiac Association for adjudication.

Adjudication

Applications will be judged by the Professional Advisory Board of the Canadian Celiac Association who will make decisions regarding based on the suitability and quality of the proposed work. The recommendation of the Professional Advisory Board will be forwarded to the Board of Directors of the Canadian Celiac Association for ratification.

Notification

The successful candidate will be formally notified by April 28, 2021.

Award

Payment and Reporting for the Award are governed by CCA's 'Payment and Reporting Guidelines'. Generally, grants are payable in two (2) installments. The first installment (80% of the award) will be paid upon receipt or notice from the investigator of ethics approval, and that the project is ready to start. The second installment (20%) will be paid upon receipt of a satisfactory final report.

Publicity and Access

The Award recipient is expected to present the work following its completion either at the next CCA National Conference of the Canadian Celiac Association and/or a special webinar. If there are any expenses to attend or participate in these meetings, they will be covered by the Canadian Celiac Association in accordance with CCA's guidelines. Notwithstanding the author's rights to publication, the CCA shall be granted the right to publish the final report, whole or in part, in its publications including electronically.
