

Dr. J.A. Campbell Young Investigator Award

For Research in Celiac Disease, Dermatitis Herpetiformis and Gluten Related Disorders

Award

An award of up to $5,000 is offered by the Celiac Canada (CCA) for work done in Canada (or by an investigator from Canada temporarily working elsewhere and committed to return to Canada) of a scientific, applied science, medical, and/or social nature relevant to celiac disease (gluten-induced enteropathy), dermatitis herpetiformis or other gluten related disorders.

2021 --2023 – Over the next three years, CCA has an interest in research that addresses under-investigated populations (including indigenous, impoverished, newcomer, racialized and vulnerable communities) and celiac disease; however, applications are not limited to this subject area.

Eligibility

The individual must be a trainee in a recognized Medical or Health Sciences School, University Undergraduate, or Graduate Training Program.

How to Apply

Please send either a Word or PDF document with the following:

From the applicant:

1. Statement about interest in this research and this how the research will advance career plans (1-page limit),
2. Current C/V

From the mentor/supervisor (2-page limit):

1. Assessment of the applicant
2. Statement of commitment to facilitating the project
3. Statement regarding how the work will enhance the applicant's training

From the applicant or mentor/supervisor:

1. Project goals, rationale, and paragraph summary of research suitable for the public
2. Description of the research including aims, methods, and statement about how the research will advance knowledge. Limit to two (2) pages plus appropriate supportive references
3. Itemized budget for salary, materials, supplies and services (1 page). Travel will not be funded

If this award is sought in conjunction with the JA Campbell Research Grant, include a statement outlining how the funds for each award will be separately used.

Deadline:

Applications must be received no later than April 30th, 2023, and each will be acknowledged. The CCA office will forward these applications to the Professional Advisory Council for adjudication.

Adjudication

The Professional Advisory Council of CCA will decide regarding the winner or winners, based on the suitability and quality of the proposed work. The recommendation of the Professional Advisory Council will be forwarded to the Board of Directors of the CCA for ratification.

Notification

The successful candidate will be formally notified by June 30th, 2023.

Award

The Award is payable in full following the CCA's decision, and upon receipt or notice from the investigator of appropriate ethics approval and that the project is ready to start.

Reporting

The applicant will submit to the CCA an interim or final report at the one-year anniversary date and a final report upon completion of the project.

Publicity and Access

The Award recipient(s) may be expected to present their work following its completion at the next National Conference or special webinar of Celiac Canada. If there are any expenses to attend or participate in these meetings, they will be covered by the CCA in accordance with CCA's guidelines. Notwithstanding the author's rights to publication, the CCA shall be granted the right to publish the final report, whole or in part, in its publications including electronically.

Send applications to:

Research coordinator, Caleigh McAulay

Email: clientsupport@celiac.ca

Mail: 1450 Meyerside Dr., Suite 503. Mississauga, ON. L5T 2N5